

playing around

started by adding rooster sound, first sound that came to my mind when I thought about the play where my parents come from. and there is the idea of a journey that both iara's dad had but my parents aswell, from totally different countries. so the concept is as follows: the journey.